Case Study: Penetration Testing

Securing Specialist Insurers From Vulnerabilities

Company Profile:

Established in 1936, Devitt Insurance has been helping UK customers for over 80 years to ensure they understand their insurance with a straight-forward and easy-to-understand approach. This is demonstrable through key partners such as The Post Office, BMW and The Salvation Army. Focusing on motorbike insurance, Devitt also provide van, home and business insurance, including specialist insurance policies for dealers and training schools.

Devitt Insurance work with the UK's leading insurance companies, AXA and Aviva to name but a few, in order to find the best price for their customers. It is essential for Devitt to ensure their customer and company data remain secure and free of vulnerabilities, to maintain the high-level of trust their customers have grown to expect.

The Challenge

Devitt Insurance required testing on a compliance level and was unsure what testing they required. Robert Evans, IT Manager wanted to improve the overall security posture for Devitt and address any remediation associated following the testing that took place.

It is important for Devitt Insurance to ensure their business is secure, as a breach of the business would have a significant impact.

Case Study: Devitt Insurance

With so much sensitive client data at risk, it is important to ensure their environment is secure and free of vulnerabilities.

The Solution

MTI's penetration testing team were engaged by Devitt Insurance to identify which areas of the business they should test. MTI helped in articulating the various elements of the penetration testing available and how they were applicable to Devitt Insurance and the particular industry.

MTI advised on the particular parameters of testing following consultation with Devitt Insurance in a clear and concise proposal. Once the parameters of testing had been agreed, MTI was entrusted by Devitt Insurance to conduct the penetration testing.

Once the necessary testing services had taken place, a comprehensive report was built by MTI to provide Devitt Insurance guidance upon findings and remediation.

Why MTI

Devitt Insurance required a partner to provide advice and expertise to deliver an efficient service. MTI fit these criteria from the outset by possessing the correct credentials, skillset and track record of successful penetration tests.

MTI demonstrated a good understanding of the particular nuances in the industry and were able to recognise the specific areas that needed to be tested.

Devitt Insurance found MTI gave them peace of mind, stating the testing was conducted professionally and on time with each step clearly communicated.

We would recommend MTI going forward. The service and approach from the team was straightforward and delivered what was promised. The end result was provided on time, with no surprises
